Striking Flight Engineers Given Work Choice

Eastern Airlines Threatens To Fill Jobs by July 24

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Striking flight engineers faced today a choice of returning to their Eastern Air Lines jobs or risking replacement by other employees.

The big carrier called upon 80 jet copilots to qualify for flight engineer assignment on jets. Eastern said it would put the copilots in flight engineer posts not manned on or before July 24 by the engineers.

It was the first operational move Eastern has made to resume service which it suspended June 23 after the Flight Engineers International Association struck over issues which included qualifications for jet crews.

Negotiations Fail

Management's action came after negotiations broke down in Washington Thursday night, and the government canceled settlement efforts for the present. Negotiators reportedly had reached agreement on the crucial crew makeup issue but could not settle a money question.

Eastern said all flight engineers who go back to work will retain priority rights on jets and the copilots will not take flight engineer jobs away from any present flight engineer who reports by the deadline.

The line said that in addition to replacing holdout flight engineers, the copilots would be available to operate during the temporary period when returning flight engineers get company-paid training to qualify for pilot-engineer positions.

How soon the copilots can qualify for flight engineer work depends on individuals, Eastern said.

Flights To Resume

A spokesman said that Eastern, the nation's second largest carrier, hopes to be able to resume some flights by July 24.

The company apparently based its hopes on a belief that the copilots would cross engineers' picket lines because the labor dispute is essentially a jurisdictional one.

The engineers union called the would occupy the third seat when jet crews are reduced from four to three. Both the Airline Pilots Association and the engineers union want that third seat.

Washington sources said the two sides moved close on some issues Thursday night and had settled, or practically settled, the crew question. But the talks reportedly broke up when the company insisted its pay-increase offer would not be made retroactive because of financial losses due to the strike.

Ohioan To Be First Civilian Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Star says it has learned from official sources that Neil A. Armstrong of Ohio, an X-15 pilot, will be the first civilian selected for training as an astronaut.

Armstrong, 31, a native of Wapakoneta, Ohio, and a graduate of Purdue University with an aeronautical engineering degree, is a test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He is assigned to the X-20 "Dyna-Soar" program, but the Star says he is expected to be transferred shortly to space-pilot training.

NASA expects to make soon a final selection of the second group of astronauts. About 32 men—most of them military test pilots—have survived all preliminary screening procedures. About 5 or 10 will be chosen.

White House Mum on Successor

Norstad Resigns NATO Command

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy accepted today the resignation of Gen. Lauris Norstad as supreme Allied commander in Europe and chief of NATO forces.

The White House had nothing to say immediately as to a successor.

Reports were circulating that Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, might replace Norstad. But there also was talk of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now presidential military adviser.

Norstad has held the Allied position with headquarters in Paris since 1956. He is known as a strong advocate of increasing unity among the Western European Allies and between them and the United States.

Word that the general has submitted his resignation came first from the newspaper Le Monde in Paris.

Norstad said in a letter to Kennedy: "We live in a time of continuing crisis, but for the moment, at least, there is no unusual pressure on my office. I request therefore that I be relieved of my assignment ... on or about 1 Nov. 1962."

The chief executive replied in a "Dear Larry" letter, voicing deep regret at Norstad's decision to step out of uniform after 36 years and also lavishing high praise on him.

Beaver Local Annex Work To Begin

Rising enrollment in Beaver Local School District is reflected in a $253,000 construction program in different stages of progress this summer at four of the six schools.

The major addition will be the $110,273 project at Beaver Local Public School where ground will be broken Monday, launching the construction of two more classrooms, an auditorium, a gymnasium and a stage. Seating capacity in the auditorium will be between 400 and 500 students, according to Dr. George Van Horne, executive head.

Two new classrooms to be completed in time for school opening this fall will double the original size of the four-room Rogers School. Two other rooms and a cafeteria were added in 1959. The current expansion will cost $30,000.

Two classrooms at the same cost are being built at the Calcutta School.

New additions to the Beaver Local High School at a cost of $75,000 will be a new library, a classroom, two restrooms and an

U.S. Ends Year With Deficit of $6.3 Billion

Final Figure Is $700 Million Less Than Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appeared pleased today but hardly excited at word that the government wound up its 1962 bookkeeping year with a budget deficit $700 million less than estimated in January. The final red ink figure was $6.3 billion.

None of the House members who commented on the development thought the moderately pleasant fiscal news would have much influence on any decision for an income tax cut now or later.

Some thought, however, that even a modest reduction in the deficit would calm the nervousness of foreign holders of U.S. dollars and therefore help the balance of payments deficit.

Announcing the fiscal 1962 deficit, the Treasury said Thursday both income and spending were overestimated in January, when a $7-billion deficit was projected. Spending on defense, space, foreign and national security programs was down $248 million and other government agencies spent $1.1 billion less than anticipated.

But corporate income and other business-linked revenues were down also, more than offsetting a rise in personal income tax yield.

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, expressed the reaction of many colleagues when he shrugged off the improvement in the deficit figure as too small to make any difference in anyone's plans.

Some high-placed Democrats privately agreed. One, who would not be quoted, said the difference is within the margin of error with which all treasury projections should be treated. But he added: "Anyway, I'm glad it wasn't off in the other direction."

The deficit is the largest in peacetime except for two years—1959 when the government was $12.4 billion in the red and 1953 when a $9.4 billion deficit reflected the peak spending of the Korean fighting.

Headon Crash East of City Injures Two

Two persons were injured in a headon collision that occurred at 3 p.m. Thursday, one and a half miles east of Salem on Alternate Rt. 14, near the Millville Hill.

Those injured include: Robert C. Heyes, 50, of Maple Heights, who suffered severe lacerations of the face, possible concussion and a possible fractured nose.

Willard L. Mellinger, 32, of RD 1 Columbiana, who received contusions of the forehead, right knee and left elbow and abrasions of the right knee.

Both were brought to Salem City Hospital where Heyes is in fairly good condition. Mellinger was treated and released.

The State Patrol said the mishap occurred when a third vehicle, operated by Louis M. Mann, Jr., 20, of Greenford, was turning left onto the Beaver Creek Rd. from Rt. 14 and Heyes attempted to go around Mann on the right side and went down on the berm struck a post and then traveled across the highway into the path of the Mellinger auto.

Heyes was cited for reckless operation, the Patrol reported.

U.S. Aid To Peru Is Stopped In Protest of Military Coup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is cutting off aid to Peru in an effort to bring about an early return to civilian democratic government in the South American country.

Announcement of the cutoff of aid, except for relatively minor humanitarian assistance, came late Thursday shortly after the White House had denounced the military takeover in Lima as dealing a serious setback to the cause of democracy in the Western Hemisphere.

President Kennedy "has noted the developments in Peru with great concern," the White House statement said.

Washington officials said the

To Probe Planet's Mysteries

Mariner I Awaits Journey To Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The pretty planet Venus beckons and the United States is ready to launch a Mariner I spacecraft in her direction to probe mysteries that have puzzled astronomers and scientists for centuries.

Before dawn Saturday, this nation's most powerful operational space booster, an Atlas-Agena B, is scheduled to blaze skyward to start a 446-pound gold and silver plated space messenger on a 140-day trip to the cloud-shrouded planet.

If all goes right, Mariner I will sweep within 10,000 miles of Venus' sunlit side on Dec. 8. In a brief 30-minute pass, sensitive instruments will reach their electronic fingers into the planet's heavy cloud mantle and relay what they find to Earth in a series of blips and beeps.

Scientists will be able to translate these radio signals into concrete information about some of the secrets masked by Venus' cloud layers.

The signals may reveal whether Venus has a magnetic field, a Van Allen type radiation belt, the range of temperatures on the surface and the veiled atmosphere, how fast the planet rotates and other answers long sought by scientists.

Scientists believe plant and animal life as we know it does not exist on Venus because of steamy temperatures which Earth measurements indicate surpass 600 degrees Fahrenheit.

Despite her cloud veil, Venus is the third brightest object in Earth's sky, dimmer only than the sun and moon. The planet's brilliance when she appeared as the morning and evening stars

Senate Hears Testimony In Estes Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators take further testimony today from former Texas farm official William P. Mattox who has acknowledged accepting financial favors from promoter Billie Sol Estes.

Mattox told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Thursday that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman fired him last month in an attempt "to shift the blame for wrongdoing which must rest on his shoulders."

Mattox was suspended in May and fired last month as vice chairman of the Reeves County, Tex., Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. He had acknowledged that Estes paid his hotel and airplane travel bills for a week's trip to Washington.

Mattox told the subcommittee that in firing him Freeman was motivated by "a desire to protect himself and seek a victim." He did not elaborate.

The Senate subcommittee is ex-

Tracks Down, Kills, 'Enemy' Fired Missile

Mission Declared Major Breakthrough In Defense System

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional supporters of the Army's Nike Zeus antimissile today hailed its first successful test as a major weapons breakthrough. But the Defense Department maintained a let's wait and see attitude.

The Pentagon announced Thursday that a 48-foot Nike Zeus missile fired from Kwajalein in the mid-Pacific had intercepted a target vehicle lobbed more than 4,500 miles from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California.

The target vehicle launched by an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile had flown in high trajectory at speeds up to 16,000 miles an hour.

Didn't Actually Hit

Sources indicated the Nike Zeus did not actually strike its warhead target, but came close enough to have destroyed it if armed. Neither the Nike Zeus nor the test warhead carried a nuclear charge.

Thursday's success was the major development to date in a seven-year program that has cost about $1.2 billion and could cost as much as $15 billion if the Nike Zeus ever is put into production.

However, there was nothing to indicate that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had changed his position of long standing: until a complete series of tests has been conducted there should be no start of production on hardware for the antimissile system.

Stride Major Forward

Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the House Space Committee, said of Thursday's test high above the Pacific Marshall Islands atolls, "This represents the greatest breakthrough in our defense system. The country that can come first with an antimissile weapon is in the driver's seat."

And Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., advocate of the Zeus and a reserve major general of the Army, said he hoped the test would "open the eyes" of military leaders he described as lukewarm toward the program.

The successful test provided something tangible that the

26 Perish As Jet Crashes Mountain

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—A United Arab Airlines jet with 26 persons aboard crashed into a jungle-covered mountain in central Thailand Thursday night and an American military search party reported its first check today indicated there were no survivors.

Three of the 18 passengers aboard the British-built Comet IV were Americans—Mrs. Virginia Gilbertson of Bradford Woods, Pittsburgh, Pa., her daughter Christine and her son Eric.

The American family was en route to the United States from Tokyo, where Mrs. Gilbertson's husband, Dennis, represents the Blaw-Knox Steel Company of Pittsburgh. They had booked passage on the plane at the last minute when their flight with another

Lisbon Man's Flower Puts on Annual Show

LISBON — The night-blooming cereus Dr. John Steele brought home from Gatlinburg, Tenn., nearly 15 years ago put on its annual show Wednesday night.

Placed on the front porch at 821 N. Market St., it attracted about 30 visitors including some who arrived before dark and stayed to watch the cream-colored flower unfold.

The bloom wilted at daylight and will fall off. However, Dr. Steele hopes for a double feature this year for the first time. One of the three buds the plant made this year remains and looks like it may bloom. One bud dropped off.

When you bring your Doctor's prescriptions to us, they are filled by one of our experienced professional pharmacists. You will like this expert service, and also our uniformly moderate prices for drugs and medicines.

Quit Pestering Washington

The next time someone curses the federal government for muscling in on local government and sapping its vigor, suggest that it isn't always because the federal government wants it to be that way.

Point out that Brooks Hays, formerly a Democratic representative from Arkansas and presently a special assistant to President Kennedy for federal and local affairs, said this in so many words to 2,000 county officials meeting in Washington.

"In Washington there's no desire to invade local government," said this spokesman for the Kennedy administration. "We need strong state government, strong local government as well as strong federal government in these times of peril."

Mr. Hays further said that whenever the federal government takes over the functions of local government it is because the latter has lost sight of its responsibility.

Another speaker before the delegates to the National Association of County Officials, which henceforth is to be called the National Association of Counties, was Gov. Terry Sanford, of North Carolina, also a Democrat.

Quit pestering Washington for federal help with your problems, he advised county officials. Try to solve them at home instead of passing the buck to the federal government. Gov. Sanford said problems like urban transportation and juvenile delinquency belonged to local government.

The point was well and strongly made—buck-passing to Washington is not Washington's idea. Politics being politics, of course Washington politicians want to earn gratitude. But by the same token they want to avoid blame too. They don't want all the responsibility being shifted to them by rabidly local officials.

This hasn't been said often. Perhaps it hasn't been said at all. But it has been said now by a presidential assistant, which makes it official. And how did the 2,000 delegates to the convention react?

They unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the federal government to buy up homes in nuisance areas around local airports.

Is the New Deal 'Old Hat'?

When does the new grcw old?

At what point does a political reform turn into a established order?

How old is a "youth leader" before he reaches middle age?

And is it true that the New Deal is "old hat"?

Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., says the Kennedy administration is in charge of "unimaginative, reactionary individuals... whose only answers to our problems consist of more and more federal power, more and more federal spending."

His accusation strikes fire. He is chairman of the Republican National Committee and in a position to lay down a party line for 1962 and 1964.

Even if he had no official position, it is significant that a Republican congressman looks upon what others too have described as warmed-over New Dealers as "reactionaries." These people think of themselves as "progressives" and "radicals," the same roles they played with relish during the first two terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt when the mildest word anyone applied to a New Dealer was "liberal."

THE QUESTION is whether time has passed them by and Rep. Miller is right when he says they are stuck with ideas that are out of date. It has happened countless times. Norman Thomas, the perennial agitator for socialism, used to make wry jokes about planks that have been taken from his platforms by both major parties.

The world moves on in politics as it does in all other things. Political ideologies go in cycles, and today's novelty is tomorrow's bromide. One thinks of Henry A. Wallace, the hotly controversial New Deal "progressive." If he were to return to public life now with the same ideas, he would be an outlandish political curiosity. The world moved on and left him in the lurch.

HAS IT ALSO moved on and left the Kennedy administration in the lurch?

Is the Republican party now the possessor of the newer ideas?

Was Brooks Hays, former U.S. representative from Arkansas and now a White House assistant for federal and local affairs, speaking the truth a few days ago when he told the National Association of Counties to quit running to Washington because the federal government didn't want to interfere in local affairs?

Is the New Deal really that dead? Rep. Miller seems willing to stake his political life on it.

This Could Go On and On

Perhaps your reaction to the news that Gross National Production — GNP — has been revised downward from $548.3 billion to $545 billion isn't everything it should be.

The significance of the revision is the indication that the Kennedy administration's hope of lifting GNP for all of 1962 to $570 billion is not bright. But what happens to most of us is acute inability to comprehend GNP.

This is what it is:

Statisticians take their combined guesses of all the money that's spent in the country year by year and call it Gross National Product. In 1945, GNP was $213.5 billion. In 1950 it was $504.4 billion. In 1961 it was $560.8 billion. That's what they said.

If capital consumption allowances are taken away from GNP what's left is net national product — NNP. If from NNP are deducted indirect business tax and nontax liability, business transfer payments and statistical discrepancies and subsidies minus current surplus of government enterprises are added that's left is national income. This once was considered more important than GNP.

If you then deduct from national income corporate profits and inventory valuations, also contributions for social insurance and excess of wage accruals over disbursements, then add government transfer payments, net interest paid by government, dividends and business transfer payments, you have personal income.

Simply stated, we get closer year by year to the shivery possibility that some fool statistician will bobble a decimal point and have otherwise sane people jumping out of windows in high buildings from coast to coast. GNP, like the consumer price index and opinion polls, is one more job of evidence that we're only as well off as any more as the statisticians say we are—and they're only guessing.

Right, Then Left

By Truman Twill

They tell stories in my family about the men with no sense of direction.

We are shrewd enough, however, to marry women with built-in guidance systems. Lacking the ability to get there on our own, we mate with navigators.

This paid off while we were motoring in Britain. Our older son, whose inability to find his way out of a broom closet with the door ajar has been something of a special nature since he was a small child, did the driving. Once we started him off on a 700-mile journey by telling him to turn left at the end of our lane and again at the intersection a couple miles up the road and he missed the second turn and went hundreds of miles out of his way.

But did that boy ever marry a navigator? That girl even mastered the London Underground. Several times while she was leading us through the intricacies of that vast subterranean fun-house strangers asked us for instructions—and we confidently referred them to our precocious daughter-in-law. Our confidence was justified.

Not only could she find her way around in London's subway system but with a map of the city spread on her lap she charted the surface traffic of that great city, even threading her way through the booby traps of Hyde Park and the confusion of Piccadilly Circus after dark.

Never once in 1,200 miles of traveling did this paragon lose her way. She had as sure a touch in Liverpool as in the desolate Cheviot Hills. On entering Edinburgh, with the rest of us braced for a protracted hunt to find the off-the-main-road house we were going to stay in, she suddenly directed the driver to make a sharp left, then another and there we were. "How did you know?" we demanded. "I didn't," she explained. "I just thought the buildings looked like it was the right street."

Only once was our confidence shaken—the day we looked for the White Horse, marking a hill fort built from about 300 B.C. to 43 A.D. The White Horse took a lot of imagination, being a crude representation consisting of shallow trenches uncovering the white limestone on a hillside, and we almost missed it. But as always she was on target, as we knew when we climbed the hill and saw the fort dug into its top.

Our prodigy pointed out one flaw in map-making—that maps are made to be looked at with north at the top, east on the right hand and west on the left hand. As long as we were driving north everything was as it should be but when we started south the map was upside down as far as names and numbers were concerned. This entailed giving more sophisticated instructions to the driver, who spent the entire journey being lost. It was necessary to remember always which was HIS right hand before telling him to turn.

One more detail about this remarkable young woman's directional sense. British intersections of consequence are traffic circles called "roundabouts." These separate traffic, slow down vehicles and give strangers a chance to consider their forthcoming turn. They are also confusing if the traffic is heavy and frustrating if for any reason the chosen road happens to be blocked.

We were driving in London. The rest of us were quietly going to pieces because we realized that finally our girl had goofed. But she remained unflustered. "Go two blocks on this street, take the first right, then the first left," she ordered crisply. We can out there where we have been if we'd taken that prescribed turn off the roundabout.

The girl never had been in an automobile in London before. She says the Underground is more of a challenge, because in the bowels of the earth your sense of direction is put to the test.

Best A-War Insurance

Victor Riesel asked Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for a discussion of America's plans for civilian survival. Here it is—straight from the Pentagon.

By ROBERT McNAMARA

One feature of the national scene during the past several months has been our running debate on fallout shelters. If the discussion has at times generated more heat than light, to me it has provided a notable example of American democracy at work.

One of the by-products of our freedom of speech is that all of us can turn into overnight experts on any subject from baseball to moon flights. And while this popular propensity may give the bona fide experts some pain, the more farsighted of them will welcome the interest of their grassroots colleagues — for only through the understanding and support that comes from free and open debate can progress be achieved.

So it was with fallout shelters.

LAST YEAR the President of the United States, after carefully weighing the counsel of his scientific, military, economic and diplomatic advisers, recommended the development of a nationwide system of fallout shelters. This, he emphasized, would provide the best insurance for the civilian population in case an enemy miscalculation should ever trigger a nuclear war.

Immediately the debate broke out. People argued whether shelters could really protect against fallout, whether they would be valueless because everybody would already be dead from blast and fire, whether preoccupation with shelters was creating a war psychosis and diverting our efforts from winning the peace. Sincere and intelligent citizens lined up on both sides of these questions.

THE FACTS about fallout protection, as I know them, are these:

In the unlooked for and unlikely event of a nuclear attack on this country, fallout shelters could save tens of millions of lives through protecting those who survived the blast and heat effects in the target areas.

While fallout shelters would save American lives, no one has suggested how they could kill or harm a single enemy. Thus they can in no sense be considered as a threat to peace.

Our over-all national defense must include capacity to survive an enemy strike as well as to retaliate. Civil defense, based on increases this capability. It is as simple as that.

I cannot agree that emergency planning of this sort creates a "war psychosis." We have outgrown the superstition that buying life insurance is morbid. That flood control and tornado shelters show a preoccupation with disaster. Or that requiring lifeboats on our ships indicates we consider shipwreck to be inevitable.

PARTICULARLY, I cannot subscribe to the belief that providing "survival insurance" in the form of fallout shelters somehow dilutes our efforts to achieve a just and lasting peace — though it is to their credit that so many Americans are sincerely concerned with this question.

The facts of life are that in today's world, preparedness is part of the price of peace. We do not hold back from keeping our military defenses strong, even while we patiently negotiate to abolish both war and the means of war. Civil defense is no more than the shield in relation to the sword of military defense.

While the public debate has been stimulating, and altogether in the American tradition, meanwhile the work of developing a fallout shelter system has been moving ahead.

QUIETLY, without fanfare, teams of architects and engineers, trained in special courses set up by the Defense Department and directed by the Army Corps of Engineers and the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks, have been going about the country on a nationwide survey of available shelter space — on the sound principle of beginning with what we have.

Today we have collected a vast amount of data identifying space where between 50 and 60 million people can be sheltered in existing structures. Local government and local building owners will decide how much of this space will be put to use. Most of it should be used.

These shelter areas will now be marked and provisioned at federal expense with funds appropriated by the Congress last year.

It is characteristic of Americans that, while we may debate a subject with an intensity that sometimes puzzles our friends and may deceive our potential enemies, we have the basic good judgment to reach a common sense conclusion when we are given the facts.

ONLY ONE ELEMENT in this otherwise healthy controversy worries me.

A small minority — a very small minority, fortunately — has expressed the fear that the devastation of a nuclear war would be so terrible that they would rather die than face the "empty world" outside their shelter.

This philosophy is so repugnant to Americans, and so foreign to their heritage, that it almost requires no answer.

Even those who believe they would choose not to survive a nuclear attack, should ask themselves if they are entitled to make that choice for their children, or for their country.

There, I think, is our answer.

A Kennedy Handful

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Medicare Defeat Can't Be Blamed on GOP

President Kennedy has stumbled again. He didn't recognize the roadblocks ahead. He could have gotten a program through medical care for the aged, but he failed to size up public sentiment correctly both inside and outside of Congress.

There's no reason in the world why the two political parties should divide on the question of what part government can take in assuring medical care for the aged who cannot themselves afford it or whose children cannot provide it for them. Everybody is agreed, moreover, that a needy person should have medical care irrespective of age. But the President played politics with the problem and came a cropper. Even in the statement he issued after the Senate voted to defer the issue until next year, Mr. Kennedy compounded his original error. He professed to see partisanship in the result and called for political action in this autumn's congressional elections on an issue that divided his own party as well as the Republicans. The President said:

"I think the American people are going to make a decision in November as to whether they want this bill, and similar bills, to be passed, or whether they want it to be defeated. Nearly all the Republicans and a handful of Democrats joined with them to give us today's setback."

BUT WAS IT just a "handful" of Democrats? Twenty-one of 64 is a sizable opposition. Ten of the 21 Democrats are chairmen of major committees in the Senate. And what of the handful of five Republicans who saved Mr. Kennedy's bill from a more sweeping defeat?

Every one of the 100 senators was present to cast his ballot. The bill was defeated by a vote of 52 to 48 but were it not for the five Republicans, the defeat would have been by a vote of 57 to 43.

Will the President this autumn charge the Republican party with responsibility for the defeat of his medical care bill?

The opposition to the measure consisted of 31 Republicans and 21 Democrats. In the Democratic party itself it means that one-third of the Democrats in the Senate voted against the President. This was enough to convert a Democratic strength of 64 votes in the Senate to a vote of 43 Democrats.

Does the President mean to tell the country now that the 31 Republicans alone were responsible and hence their party should be defeated this autumn?

Does he mean to enter the Democratic primaries and attempt to defeat those Democrats from the South and West who voted against his bill and are up for reelection this year?

Conversely, would the President support any one of the five Republicans who voted with him? Obviously not.

So it is politically impossible to try to make a national issue at the November congressional elections out of the medical care bill vote.

THE PRESIDENT seems obsessed with the political approach, when a nonpartisan effort on a subject like medical care would seem to offer the better chance of getting a constructive bill passed.

Mr. Kennedy is rated as a good politician largely because of his manner of stressing certain issues in his previous campaigns, but his statement on Tuesday on the medical care bill revealed more anger and impatience than penetrating political judgment.

The President's statement indicates he is evidently counting on the votes of aged people and those in the middle age brackets who have parents of advanced age to support. But what he must realize, of course, is that there are many more votes among the people who would have to pay additional social security taxes and who already have provided some form of medical insurance to take care of aged parents.

Also, the opposition of the doctors themselves cannot be brushed aside as inconsequential.

THE ADMINISTRATION has all along preferred to antagonize most of the members of the medical profession rather than to win their support. The doctors fear fixed fees and socialized medicine. They know what has happened abroad through creeping Socialization, which started as the President's program does.

The whole problem needed the active cooperation of the doctors. But Mr. Kennedy bitterly attacked the profession and attributed wrong motives to the doctors. They, however, have the confidence of millions of patients, and when they present their side to their friends, it is politically effective.

Doctors aren't organized like a labor union, but, if they were, maybe there wouldn't have been at the White House such indifference to their cause.

So the President might better have left politics out of his Tuesday statement and offered a new approach. In the presidential office, maturity doesn't come overnight but only as a result of bitter experience with the facts of life.

Thoughts

The earth, O Lord, is full of thy steadfast love; teach me thy statutes!—Psalms 119:64.

As the sun's rays will irradiate even the murky pool, and make its stagnant waters to shine like silver, so doth God's goodness and tender mercy, towards the greatest sinner, and the blackest heart, make his own image visible there.—Hosea Ballou.

So They Say

That world-wide scavenger of ruined revolutions, communism, directed from Moscow.—U. N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson.

Matter of Fact

Have you ever wanted to be hypnotized, but were afraid to because you thought you would lose your will power? You have nothing to fear, in that respect at least. The subject is not without will power or under the power of the hypnotist. Instead he is co-operating with him.

Questions And Answers

Q—Is it possible to send communicable diseases through the mails? I know people who insist that they have gotten childhood infections through letters written then by the parents of a sick child.

Q—I know of no such instance. The only illness produced through the mails with which I'm familiar is that sinking sensation experienced by the head of the family when the first - of - the - month bills come in.

Q—Could you relieve the mind of a worried grandmother? My 4-year-old granddaughter, who is otherwise perfectly normal, wiggles her toes, feet and legs whenever she sits down. She uses up so much energy that way it makes me nervous. When I ask her why she does it, she says because she is happy. She even does it at church. Can something be done about this waste of her strength?

A—If she does it because she's happy, maybe we all ought to follow her example. Can strength be wasted if it's used to express happiness?

Q—Every year my blood count gets low and my nerves become real bad. Many people have told me the way to build blood is to drink red wine. I would like to know if this is true. Would it also help the nerves?

A—I'm afraid you have been woefully misinformed. The only characteristic that blood and red wine have in common is the color.

Q—I am 36 and recovering from a second attack of rheumatic fever. Should I quit teaching and stay home to avoid further damage to my heart?

A—You can avoid recurrences of rheumatic fever only by the use of drugs, such as penicillin and the sulfas, that suppress the growth of the causative streptococcus. Your doctor will have to decide which drug is best for you.

Q—Quitting your job and remaining at home would seem to be just about the worst thing you could do. You would cease to be useful in your community where I'm sure your services are sorely needed and you would have innumerable empty hours to worry about yourself.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: I run a second-hand antique store. Guess you could call it sixth, eighth or ninth-hand, as some of the stuff is so old.

Here is what I use to polish furniture: one-third cup each of boiled linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar. Shake it up good and polish. Boiled linseed oil is sold commercially in bottles. Be sure to tell the wives not to take plain linseed and try to boil it themselves. Not the same thing.

SAM SERNSTEIN

DEAR HELOISE: One day I found I had no plant frog, so I took a white potato and made proper holes in it, clear through, and then cut the bottom of the potato flat and placed the stems of a few lovely chrysanthemums in the holes. They lasted 10 days! I have never seen anything like the way they kept.

Starch in the potato? I wonder.

MRS. R. R. RANGLES

DEAR HELOISE: For those who have children who like ice, try this little trick. Fill up an ice cube tray and place a small plastic or wooden spoon in each cube section. When frozen, remove the ice cubes and store in a small aluminum or plastic dish in your freezer. The little kiddies love this.

GAYLE PHILLIPS

DEAR HELOISE: Do people know that paint can be easily cleaned from hands by rubbing with ordinary fats, whether solidified or oil types?

After rubbing the hands with this, use soap and warm water. This doesn't dry your hands the way most harsh cleansers do.

WANDA McFADDEN

DEAR HELOISE: For instant coffee drinkers who do not drink too much coffee and find it caked in the jar . . . just pour hot water into the jar and dissolve the caked coffee and place it in refrigerator. When you need it, just pour a small amount into the cup and add boiling water.

Two Canton men, arrested at the Salem Reservoir Tuesday by Columbiana County Game Protector Rufus Lide for fishing without valid 1962 state licenses, were each fined $15 and costs by Judge James MacDonald Thursday at the county court in Lisbon. Both fines were suspended.

The Canton fishermen were the first to be arrested by the state at the municipally-owned reservoir since the 68-acre lake south of town was opened for fishing and boating May 15.

They charge for the groceries but Della, one of the dwindling human storehouses of old time mountain medicine, dispenses freely her cures for what ails you.

Her reputation is based on her ability to get rid of warts, and there are those who dwell here in these eternal hills who swear that nobody this side of kingdom come can eradicate warts better.

"It's not me that takes them off," said Mrs. Effler. "It's the good Lord that does it."

"Nobody taught me how to get rid of warts. It just came into my mind."

Her recipe is her own secret. But she is profoundly certain the warts will come back if the patient tries to pay her, thank her—or discloses the form of treatment.

Aside from her wart cure, Mrs. Effler is quite willing to discuss folk remedies that have been handed down in the mountains from generation to generation.

"The best medicine you can give a child," she remarked, "is to wrap an onion in a wet rag, let it cook in the ashes, then strain the juice, mix it with sugar and give it to the baby."

"It will put a child to sleep or cure it of a cold or the hives."

Mrs. Effler has great faith in the remedial powers of plants and trees.

"Chew ginseng root for the nerves," she said. "Or boil it and chop it up to help a baby with the colic."

Her cure for an upset stomach is to scrape the bark downward off a peach tree switch, boil it and serve it as a drink. To cure diarrhea, you scrape the bark off upward.

"For earache," continued Aunt Della, "you take a stick off an ash tree, put it in the fire, catch the juice as it bubbles—and put it in the young'un's ear. Hot coffee in the ear is good, too."

Mrs. Effler said the juice of "queen of the meadow," a local plant, is good for the kidneys. For treating asthma in childhood, she advised:

"Cut a sourwood switch the exact height of the child, hide it where nobody will see it and where it can get wet—and as the child outgrows the stick, she'll get well."

Physicians might question the efficacy of some of Aunt Della's and Barefoot Jerry's home remedies, but they couldn't well quarrel with the Effler family health record.

The Efflers have been married 52 years. They raised eight of their nine children. And they have 49 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Estes

ploring whether Estes benefitted from favoritism and political influence in building his now-bankrupt grain storage, cotton and fertilizer empire. The 37-year-old Pecos, Tex., financier is awaiting trial on fraud charges.

Testifying at a machinegun clip, Mattox swore he did nothing wrong in accepting financial help from Estes and from Pecos farmer Marcus Dingler for the trip last January. He said Dingler handed him "either $600 or $700."

"I state that my performance of my duties with the ASC committee was in no way influenced by my acceptance of expense monies..." Mattox said.

The trip, he insisted, was only to discuss with Assistant Secretary of Labor Jerry Holleman wage rates for migrant Mexican farm labor. It had nothing to do with Estes' profitable cotton acreage allotment or other farm aid deals, Mattox said.

Holleman since has resigned after acknowledging he also accepted favors from Estes. Mattox said Estes, Dingler and other farmers all were interested in the Mexican labor problem and properly helped to finance the expedition.

Mattox said Estes and John Dennison, the financier's lawyer, had urged him to discuss Estes' cotton acreage deals with the department's legal staff but that he refused to do so.

United States could use in answer to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's recent claim that Russia had global range missiles and anti-missiles that could hit a fly in the sky. The U.S. government took care to see that the report of the Nike Zeus success had the widest attention at home and overseas.

But the fact remained that this was only one test, with others more severe to come.

Youngstown Boy Wounded As He Thwarts Holdup

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old boy thwarted a holdup attempt at his family drive-in restaurant Thursday night and was shot in the neck by the fleeing masked gunman.

Police said Reid Chikhani was shot when he lunged at the would-be robber and tried to grab his arm. The youth underwent emergency surgery so he could breathe and was listed in serious condition in South Side Hospital.

The gunman also fired at the teen-ager's sister, Mona, but missed her as he fled empty-handed from the R & R Restaurant near the downtown section.

The intruder, wearing a stocking over his head, entered the restaurant through an unlocked back door about 1:30 p.m. He was armed with a pistol. Chikhani was running the place for his mother, Mrs. Marie Chikhani, and his sister was the waitress.

The gunman went to the center of the small building and turned his head momentarily to open the cash drawer. Chikhani apparently saw a chance to overpower him and tried to grab the man's arm. The gunman fired.

airline was cancelled.

Gilbertson accompanied his family to Hong Kong and had planned to return to Tokyo today. Friends in Hong Kong said he would leave for Bangkok tonight.

Three Asian newsmen were reported aboard the crashed Comet, on their way to Cairo as guests of the United Arab Republic government. Several other Tokyo and Hong Kong newsmen who were scheduled to make the trip to Cairo postponed their departure at the last minute.

The jetliner flight originated in Tokyo with Cairo the final destination after stopovers in Hong Kong, Bangkok, Bombay and Kuwait.

The pilot of the jetliner radioed Bangkok's airport he was preparing to land when he was 20 minutes away. That was the last word from the plane. The weather was relatively clear at the time.

A U.S. Army helicopter sighted the wreckage on the side of a 4,590-foot peak in the Khao Yai range about 50 miles northeast of Bangkok and landed near the crash site.

Twins Clobber Indians Again

8-0 Loss Is 7th In Row; Tribe In 4th

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Smarter from their seventh straight loss, the Cleveland Indians faced the grim statistic that their opponents tonight, the Los Angeles Angels, have won three games in a row without allowing an earned run. The 8-0 whitewashing the Tribe suffered at Minnesota Thursday was an exhibition in futility. Pitching ace Dick Donovan (12-4) couldn't stop the rampaging Twins, who swept the three-game series. Twins' pitcher Jim Kaat held the Indians to three hits—singles by Bubba Phillips, Willie Tasby and Tito Francona. Only one Cleveland runner got as far as second base.

Bob Allison poked a pair of homers, giving him four in the series. Former Indian Vic Power stole home.

The defeat dropped the Indians into fourth place, 6 1/2 games behind first-place New York.

Allison's first homer, in the second inning, started the Tribe's troubles. In the third, Zorro Versalles doubled and scored on two infield outs.

Allison and Bennie Allen singled in a run each in the fourth and Donovan was lifted.

In the fifth, Power lashed a double to Bill Tuttle on and took third on a fly ball that scored Tuttle. Then, with Bill Dailey pitching, he broke for the plate and made it, making the score 6-0.

Allison belted his second homer off Frank Funk in the eighth with one on.

Jim Grant (4-4) will try to get the Indians out of the doldrums tonight. Ted Bowsfield (5-4) pitches for the Angels.

Reds Nip Dodgers On Kasko's Triple

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

It is beginning to look like 1960 all over again for the aroused Pittsburgh Pirates. By winning 22 of their last 27 games, the Pirates have pulled within 2 1/2 games of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Danny Murtaugh is using the same old reliable formula: Scramble. Never quit. Wait for the late inning home run. Then call for little Elroy Face.

Stuart, Skinner Provide Power

Dick Stuart hit the home run and two singles, too, in the Pirates' 5-1 first-game victory Thursday night over the New York Mets. Bob Skinner contributed the game-winning homer in the 10th inning of the Pirates' 7-6 second-game victory. Bill Mazeroski, the hero of '60, hit a homer in each game.

The double victory enabled the Pirates to gain ground on both the Dodgers and the second-place Cubs. When the Dodgers lost to Cincinnati 4-3, their lead shrunk to one game over San Francisco, a 7-3 winner over Milwaukee.

St. Louis also picked up a game on the Dodgers, but still trailed by 8 1/2 in fourth place after shading Chicago 5-4.

Philadelphia continued its mastery over the stumbling Houston Colts, beating them for the 12th straight time 6-2.

The first Pirate victory was a breeze for Bob Friend, who threw a five-hitter. But the second was a different story, despite a four-run Pirate spurt against loser Jay Hook in the second inning.

Pittsburgh came from behind twice to tie it up before Skinner settled matters with his home run into the left field stands leading off the 10th. Face, who took over in the ninth, won his seventh.

Brilliant relief pitching by Bob Bolin, who allowed only two hits over the last five innings, saved the day for the Giants at Milwaukee. It was his fifth straight win.

Willie Mays hit his 26th homer for the Giants, and Hank Aaron got No. 24 and Lee Maye No. 4 for the Braves.

Passed Balls Aid Cards

Three passed balls by catcher Dick Bertell in the same inning gave the Cards their tie-breaking run in the seventh against the Cubs. Fred Whitfield struck out for what should have been the final out, but reached base safely on the first passed ball as Bertell was having his trouble handling Barney Schultz' knuckler. Whitfield, attempting to steal, went all the way to third on the second passed ball and scored on the third.

Ray Sadecki won in relief over Schultz. Lou Brock and Ron Santo homered for the Cubs, both off starter Ernie Broglio.

The Phillies did it again to the Colts, breaking a 2-2 tie with three in the eighth while Chris Short and Jack Baldschun held the fort in relief. Short pitched to just one man in the 7th but was the winner.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eddie Kasko's game-winning triple Thursday night may indicate his batting is on the way up again. That one-run smash helped Cincinnati take a 4-3 decision over the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

In a ninth-inning, two-out, scoried, chip-down situation Thursday night, he swung into a shoulder high pitch and drove it to the farthest corner of right field. That brought Don Zimmer around from first for the winning run.

Zimmer had given the Reds a ninth inning 3-3 tie with a single that brought in Marty Keough.

The game featured a pitching duel between Johnny Podres and Johnny Klippstein, but neither was around for the decision.

Bill Henry took the victory in relief, while the loss went to Ron Perranoski.

Summer Basketball Results

The league-leading Cagers rolled to their sixth win without a loss by blasting Shaffer's 96-78 in game at the Centennial Park Court Thursday.

In the only other game played Gord's Bearcats bombed Spack's Specs 84-36.

Ken's Krunchers became the second team to be dropped from the league this year because of four forfeits. All squads will receive victories this round for games scheduled with the Krunchers and Tom's Sunoco, the other team dropped earlier.

Cassius Clay, Lavarante Meet

10-Round Match Set Tonight In L.A.

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two "futures" in the heavyweight boxing picture, unbeaten Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., and Argentina's Alejandro Lavarante, tangle in a 10-round match in the Sports Arena tonight.

The contest will not be televised or broadcast.

For days the fight mob has debated the merits of the pair and the possible outcome. The price today is even money but the 20-year-old Clay may enter the ring a slight favorite.

Such is not the case with Cassius, whose favorite fighter is Cassius and one in whom he has uncharted confidence. Said Clay: "It took the old man 10 rounds to knock Lavarante out. I will do it in five. A good young man is better than a good old man."

The "old man" is Archie Moore, who stopped Alex in the Argentine's last match.

Lavarante, 25, suffered more mental anguish than physical pain in the Moore match, and certainly Cassius in his 14 victories has met no one of the caliber of either Moore or Lavarante.

In his brief career, Lavarante has won 19 fights, 15 by knockouts, and lost three. His best victory was a knockout over Zora Foley.

Ralph Knepper of Corso's Wine Shop and Rudy Schuster of Greene Oil shared low gross honors, each shooting a 35. Penn Grill captured low gross for a team by firing a 155.

Low net scores went to Joe Reese with a 36-10-26 and to Ruff's with a total of 161-34-127.

Viking Cops Victory In Yonkers Race

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A.C.'s Viking has served notice he is going to be mighty tough to beat for the 3-year-old trotting championship in harness racing this year.

The Viking, scoring his sixth victory in seven starts this year, easily won the $105,422 Yonkers Futurity at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night and in the process hung it on Sprite Rodney, the flashy filly from the Eaton Ridge Farm of Thomas J. and Melvin Eaton of Norwich, N.Y.

Three-quarters of a length separated the pair at the end of the 1 1-16 miles with the clocking of 2:10 4-5 only one-fifth of a second off the track record. Isaac was another 2 1/2 lengths back for third place in the field of nine. The winner paid $3.70, $2.70 and $2.50.

"Best horse I ever have driven," said 62-year-old Saders Russell after returning to the winner's circle. "His next start will be at Brandywine Raceway July 23 and then the Hambletonian."

50-Year-Old Pro Leads With 66

Palmer, Nicklaus Fire 71's In PGA 1st Round

By HUGH FULLERTON JR Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP)—John Barnum is 50 years old, grey-haired and slightly paunchy. He plays in senior golf tournaments and occasionally, when his club near Grand Rapids, Mich., is closed, in PGA winter tour events.

Public Is Unconcerned

He looks like the affable guy you'd like to have as pro at your own club. He is leading the 44th Professional Golfers Association championship by two shots after a first round 66 and nobody is giving him a tumble. As far as the public is concerned, it's still a duel between Arnie Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

The public may be right. After an opening round that produced six sub-par rounds and five even-par over the leg-straining hills of the 7,045-yard, par 70 Aronimink course, it still was any body's tournament.

And not the least among a dozen and a half players within close range of first place were Palmer, winner of the Masters and the British Open championship, and Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion.

Hampered by a crowd that was estimated at 17,000—a record first-day gallery for the PGA championship—and bothered by amateur camera fans who shot at the wrong times, Palmer and Nicklaus both shot one-over-par 71s on their first round.

Harbert Holds 2nd Spot

In second place, with a 68, was another grey-haired gaffer from Michigan, Chick Harbert, who won the PGA title in match play in 1954 and who has played in only two tournaments so far this year. At 69 were George Bayer, the big belter from Miami, and three players whose tee shots aren't considered long enough for the big Aronimink course—Doug Ford, Bob Goalby and Frank Stranahan.

The 70 shooters included Don Januar, who lost a playoff for the PGA title to Jerry Barber last year; Paul Harney; Joe Campbell; Leo Biagetti and Dick Hart. Tied with Palmer and Nicklaus at 71 were Dave Marr, Johnny Pott, Marty Furgol and Bob Gajda.

NY Ends Road Trip With 10-2 Mark; Orioles Beat A's

Yanks Winning, But LA Refuses to Lose

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a typical Yankee series. First they beat you with pitching. Then Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris beat you. Then, before you recover, some of the boys at the bottom of the batting order beat you in another game. Finish Trip With 10-2 Mark.

That's how the New York Yankees won a three-game set from Boston, extending their winning string to seven and finishing a 12-game road trip with a 10-2 mark.

Elston Howard, Bill Skowron and Clete Boyer, the sixth, seventh and eighth men in the Yankee order, took the star roles Thursday as the Yankees bombed Boston 10-6.

The pesky Los Angeles Angels and rebounding Minnesota Twins refused to yield ground, however. The surprising Angels remained 3½ games back with a 2-1 victory over Detroit while Minnesota got a three-hit pitching performance from Jim Kaat and two home runs from Bob Allison in an 8-0 rout of stricken Cleveland. The victory pushed Minnesota, which had entered the game in a tie with the Indians, into sole control of third place, ½ game back.

Baltimore beat Kansas City 7-3 in the only other American League game. The Chicago White Sox and Washington were not scheduled.

Ralph Terry's four-hit, 1-0 shut-out started the Yankee stand in Boston. Mantle followed with a tape-measure home run and four runs batted in during a second game hitting display. Then the other guys took over Thursday.

Boyer and Howard each drove in three runs and Skowron added a couple in the diversified New York attack. Howard got his on a triple and two singles. Boyer and Skowron each had a homer and single, Boyer's 12th homer of the season capping a decisive five-run inning.

Jim Pagliaroni and Bob Tillman had homers for the losers.

Angels Come From Behind

The Angels came from behind with two in the seventh to hand Detroit its seventh straight loss. The Tigers, shut out in two straight games, broke a string of 22-3 scoreless innings with an unearned run in the fourth.

Allison had a single to go with his two homers and drove in four runs in leading the Minnesota attack against Cleveland. Twin lefty Kaat (9-9) allowed only singles to Bubba Phillips, Willie Tasby and Tito Francona in breaking his five-game losing string. Vic Power, a one-time Indian, stole home against his old mates.

Charley Lau lashed two homers and drove in four runs for the Orioles against Kansas City. Jackie Brandt also had a ninth-inning two-run homer for the winners.

Kelso Still Looking For Win In 1962

Carry Back Favored In Brooklyn Handicap

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The battle for the championship of the handicap division shifts back to Aqueduct Saturday with Carry Back the favorite to log his third rich triumph of the year with victory in the $100,000-added Brooklyn Handicap.

Kelso Looking For Victory

Kelso, the 1960 and '61 champion but still looking for his first major victory of 1962, will sit this one out, leaving Beau Purple and probably six others to tangle with Carry Back in the 1¼-mile finale of New York's handicap triple.

Hollywood Park also offers a $100,000-added event in the 6 furlongs of the Juvenile Championship for 2-year-olds.

Carry Back, flying the silks of Mrs. Katherine Price, will tote top weight of 127 pounds in the Brooklyn, three more than he carried in beating Kelso by three lengths and winning the $109,150 Monmouth Park Handicap last Saturday in track record time of 2:00 2/5 for 1¼ miles.

Jack Dreyfus Jr.'s Beau Purple, third in the Monmouth Handicap after beating both Kelso and Carry Back in the Suburban 'Cap with a record 2:00 3/5 clocking at weight under 117 pounds. He packed 115 in the Suburban.

Kicapu Kid Favored At Hollywood

About a dozen youngsters are slated to go after Hollywood Park's rich prize with Kicapu Kid the probable choice off victories in the Westchester and Haggin stakes at the West Coast track. He is owned by the Kicapu Ranch and trainer Hal King.

Rex Ellsworth also has a well fancied pair in Space Gate and Honey Bunny. Both are stake winners at Hollywood and Hoey

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Old Country Store

Fritz Roth and his family are moving to Florida to live. He was one of Columbiana's good school teachers. They have a home to sell here on Vine Street. I believe it has 5 bedrooms all with walk in clothes closets. Fritz being an industrial arts teacher did a nice job of remodeling this house. They have been very good customers and boosters for the Country Store. We will miss them. If you know anyone who could use this house, they want to sell it now.

X-Rays Probe Unseen Beauty of Flowers

Intricate details of the hidden parts of flowers are revealed in X-ray pictures taken at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry. Using a method developed by Prof. Albert G. Richards as a hobby, the pictures show flowers as they might appear if they were made of clear plastic. They reveal depth and detail which cannot be seen by the naked eye. Richards spent two years perfecting the method, which produces pictures in color and three-dimension as well as black and white. The special low-energy X-ray machine used operates at up to 20,000 volts, only a third as powerful as a dental X-ray.

X-rays reveal the exuberant, swirling intricacy of a columbine.
